

Engage For Professionals

Understanding why people use abusive behaviours is crucial to breaking the cycle of domestic abuse. Almost 15 years ago, after hearing the growing frustration of survivors about the lack of accountability for abusers, our team began offering behaviour change interventions.

Today, as one of the UK's leading authorities in perpetrator interventions, we equip professionals with the knowledge, tools, and confidence to engage with perpetrators and create lasting change.

Engage for Professionals teaches proven strategies to help practitioners engage with perpetrators in ways that encourage positive change and reduces repeat offenses.

What to expect:

This one-day training programme will introduce you to the Engage approach, increasing your knowledge and improving your confidence in working with perpetrators of domestic abuse. We go through the toolkit in detail so you'll feel confident using it at work.

You will:

- Understand the Engage Approach: Gain insights into Domestic Abuse Expert's proven strategies for ending domestic abuse.
- Increase Confidence in Working with Perpetrators: Develop the skills and confidence needed to effectively engage with perpetrators.
- Recognise and Assess Risk Factors: Learn to identify and understand client presentations and associated risks.
- Master the Engage Toolkit: Become proficient in using the Engage toolkit through detailed instruction and hands-on practice.

Suitable for:

Professionals in the public or not-for-profit sectors who work with families: social care, family support workers, early help, housing teams, charities, etc.
